COFFEE WEEK.

The National Coffee Roasters of America are pushing the sale of coffee this week, which is known in the trade as "Coffee Week" all over the country, and the Direct Importing Co.'s store over the trolley waiting room on Franklin square are giving 20 ounces for a pound for all of their 19, 24 and 28 cent coffees. They guarantee any of these coffees to be as good as any sold for more money.

DAVIS THEATRE.

New Vaudeville Today, the Four Charles, Big European Novelty Act.

There will be a change in the vaude-ville at this popular playhouse today and the attraction for the last half of the week is the Four Charles, an act that cames very highly recom-mended to this city. They do juggling and acrobatic feats and change from one scene to another in two or three seconds. This is one of the biggest seconds. This is one of the biggest novelties seen here this season and everyone should see them. The photoplays today are headed by the four part Mutual masterpicture, A Yankee from the West, a great picture, featuring Signe Auen and Wallace Reid. It is a story of a ne'er do well who goes wrong and later repents, makes good and wins the heart of the girl whose high ideals and untainted love turned him from the high road of desturned him from the high road of des-truction to the path that leads to hap-piness and success. This is a picture both young and old will enjoy, for it both young and old will enjoy, tor at is full of western life and action, and by drama provoked by the satyrilke there is not one dull moment from the start to the finish. Be sure and see by the millionaire importer.

COMING TO THE DAVIS. Friday and Saturday, Lady Audley's Secret-a Big Fox Feature.

Another big Fox feature will be shown here Friday and Saturday, with the popular star, Theda Bars, the world famous vampire woman, in the renowned play, Lady Audley's Secret, a strong society drama of matchless power, abounding in thrills and suspense. The following is a brief outline of the picture:

Lady Audley and Crosbie who are spending a short time in this city have engaged a Norwich man to dive off the dock at that time clothed in one of the Kapo neversink garments in order to show just how buoyantly and safely be will be supported in the water by this new life preserving garment.

Lady Audley crumpled up the letter her husband had given her to read. her husband had given her to read. It had come at last. After years of contentment and happiness, a ghost of the past had arisen to destroy her fidelity and to perpetuate itself as a

Several years before, she had mar-ried the son of a wealthy father who had disinherited his son for marrying against his wishes. The young hus-band later went to Australia in an at-tempt to make a fortune, leaving his

Alone, destitute, she accepted the proposal of Lord Audley, who did not know that she had been married before. Now after years of comparative happiness, her husband hands her a note from his nephew, telling that he was bringing with him the man who had been her husband, the man from whom she had not heard for so long. She sees her chance for happiness

The Country Parson is one of a group of "country stories," by Balzac. The title has little to do with the subject, but is retained in this case because millions of readers know this because millions of readers know this story under that name. The plot of it is as follows: Forced into a loveless marriage by her parents, with a husband physically repulsive, Veronique Sauviat pines for the young man she really loves, and, when her lord and master ill-treats her, she meets Jean Tascheron clandestinely. But he is penniless, and cannot afford to take her away. A terrible temptation beher away. A terrible temptation be-sets him when he discovers the hiding place of an old miser's wealth. Veronique abets him in the theft he plans. The miser comes on the scene and is murdered. The crime is soon discovered and the guilty man is arrested.

Veronique's conscience torments her and she confesses to her mother. Tascheron goes to the guillotine, and Veronique is left to seek forgiveness in religious devotions. She has gained nothing and lost all. Tascheron is dead, but she lives—and hers is the more dreadful punishment. Such is the tale told in today's big three reel film and the big Biograph cast including Louise Vale, Gretchen Hartmann, Charles Mailles, Jack Drumier and Franklin Ritchie, never appeared in a more serious dramatic effort, nor a more beautifully presented one. Other strong films in the big bill for today include the two-reel Selig attraction entitled The Melody of Doom, a drama so strangely weird that its magnetic qualities hold and absorb the attention of every audience. The the attention of every audience. The program concludes with the splendid Kalem comedy entitled Folled. Watch for the big Edison four reel feature with Marc MacDermott in the leading.

AT THE AUDITORIUM. Sixteenth Chapter of the Broken Coin and New Vaudeville Acts Today.

Three entirely different vaudeville numbers will be on the program today besides the sixteenth chapter of the besides the sixteenth chapter of the Broken Coin, in two reels, and other pictures. Harvard and Cornell will head the list of acts and will introduce a very clever singing, talking and piano novelty. Callouette will present a corking single novelty the last three days of this week and will include juggling, baton swinging and wire walking. Callouette was the sergeant drum major, Third Connecticut regiment band, and is a Spanish

Hot Curling Iron Goes -No More Broken Hair

Norwich

(Beauty's Mirror.)

Every woman knows that continual use of the hot curling fron means brittle, bildered parched, dead-looking hair, with burnt, uneven ends. There's no need of anyone using that instrument of torture, now that we know what can be accomplished by the occasional application of ordinary liquid silmerine. This is not only more effective, giving the hair a fluffler and prettier curl, but tends to promote its health, lustre and beauty. Any druggist can supply silmerine in liquid form and a few ounces will last many weeks, so it is quite economical to use. The approved way is to part the hair in several strands and with a clean toothbrush apply the liquid the full length of each strand. The over-night transformation is agreeably surprising to one who has never tried this simple and harmless method.

POETRY "MERE BRUTES."

Mere brutes, they looked within each other's eyes
To see, amazed, a fisch, a sudden gleam.
Beautiful beyond the loftlest dream.
That had made animal nigh human-

That had made animal high humanwise—
An evolution that was all surprise.
To such wild creatures haunting crag
and stream—
Creatures on whom no light should aye
more beam
Empty of radiance from Lafe's wider akles—
Babe-like, they sought to anatch the shining thing
To parry with, toss to and from in play— To parry with, toss to and from in play—
Twas gone, had left them in a dumb dismay?
Yet love had birth then, so illumined lust.
So lit a lamp that should, through mist and dust.
The brute, by man, to heights inpffable bring.

-William Struthers. THE GHOST OF ME.

The I may walk in fear by night And drend a ghost to see, cannot think my friends would shrink To see the ghost of me.

For I would surely come again When fun and fancy came, And watch them laugh away the hours, And love them just the same. If they should see me standing near I think that they would know I did not grieve to see them gay. But liked to have it so.

And if, in time of grief or pain, Or any hour officer, I came to them, they would not dread To have me waiting near,

But bring me to the friendly fire, And make me welcome there, And think, uncheeked, their troubled thoughts And tell me all their care.

For they would know I only came Across the lonely years To feel their human weariness, And share their human tears. -Howard James Forker. HUMOR OF THE DAY
